People and Places

At the Ra Von Supper Club, on Ave. I, in the Riviera you'll find an atmosphere that you'll like. This popular spot is becoming a favorite meeting place for the gang.

There is a reason for the popularity. Freddie Puckett and Bill Jones dispense a lot of good humor over the mahogany with your favorite cocktail. You can step back to the Continental Buffet and choose from a large variety of fine foods prepared by Jake, formerly of La Cita.

And just to make sure that everything is the way you want it, there are three charming girls who specialize in efficient service: Ellen Engle, Nancy Rodriguez and Jane White were on duty when the Gadabout was in and they are a very pleasant trio. Jerry and Leo who operate the Ra Von take real pride in their establishment, and the large number of civic and social groups making use of the Ra Von's banquet rooms are tribute to their efforts.

Over at Hawthorne Blvd., just off Pacific Coast Hwy. is a jewel of a place called The Open Hearth. Walk in and you'll appreciate the choice of a name.

Beautiful appointments make the Open Hearth exude a cozy welcome feeling. Superb Italian cuisine, and top quality steaks are specialties. Concocting your choice of beverages from the best ingredients are Hal Mosher, during the day and Jerry Fields in the evening. Both Hal and Jerry have been in the City and Surf area for years and are very personable guys. You probably know them already, if you don't, add The Open Hearth to your list of favorite spots.

Proving to be a big entertainment hit in the "Porpoise Room" of the Marineland Restaurant is the Penthouse Four musical harmony group. And in the main dining-room, owner-host George Foster has added more leathered booths, which has also been garnering compliments from patrons. Marineland Restaurant is open daily and long after the adjoining oceanarium is closed.

While chatting with Howard Frazee, manager of the popular Vivian Laird's at 1st and Alamitos, in Long Beach, we got to talking about service and its importance to patrons of restaurants and supper clubs.

He showed me a little booklet that Vivian Laird has had prepared for distribution to each employee of her club. I took it with me and looked it over at my leisure. You can tell when you read it that Vivian Laird means what she says. After tracing briefly the very interesting career she has enjoyed in the restaurant business, Vivian tells what her customers mean to her.

Here is brief excerpt that will convince you why Vivian Laird's is one of the City and Surf's favorite dine and dance places:

"Our present business is the result of twenty-five years of service to many people from various areas and all walks of life. It is the result of the reputation we have slowly built through the years for good food and honest service in an atmosphere of beauty, gaiety and fun. It is the result of our genuine desire and effort to please people and make them happy."

BOWL-O-DROME ENTERTAINERS . . . Appearing nightly at the Bowl-O-Drome, 220th and Western, is the Frankie Harrell Trio. There is also dinner dancing in the Keg Room from 7 p.m. to midnight.

Here are just a few of the gourmet's delights that Capri's offers: Broiled Fresh Lobster with drawn butter; Magdalene Bay Shrimp with that wonderful Capri Shrimp Sauce; Pan Fried Louisiana Frog Legs; New York Cut Sirloin with French Onion Ring. Makes your mouth water doesn't it. And it's just minutes away from you.

You won't forget Capri's if you haven't already had the real pleasure, do so real soon. You'll be greeted at the door by the pleasant, lovely hostess and treated like the king and queen that you are at Capri's.

We heartily recommend Frank Zarko's, Bar-B-Q Round Up in the Riviera. You'll like the informality and you'll be talking about the barbecue for days. This is a real experience so you barbecue lovers get with it. Come as you are.

It's just a shame that we haven't the space to tell you more about the places we've mentioned and something about those we haven't included this week. We'll continue to give you our tips on the nicest people operating in the nicest places for City and Surf residents. Be back next week.

The every-Friday luncheon fashion show at The Plush restaurant in Redondo Beach will be highlighted tomorrow by man-entrancing women's creations from Mr. Bob of Long Beach. The style reviews were inaugurated several weeks ago by Elsie and Harold Gelber, owners of the palatial dining establishment. Keyboard entertainment is provided nightly in the English taproom at The Plush House by pianist-organist Eddie Baxter.

MRS JAMES W. WRIGHT . . . Opens Candy Store

Candy Store Opening Set

"Heavenly Candies" will be making their appearance in Lomita tomorrow.

They will be available at the corner of Lomita Blvd. and Crenshaw at a place of business to be known as "Heavenly Candies by Haas." Yoland Goldsmith, former "Miss Torrance," will be on hand to hand out free samples of imported and domestic candies to customers tomorrow.

Owners of the business are Mr. and Mrs. James W. Wright, their two sons, Harry and James, and daughter, Kathleen.

They will feature Trebars imported hard-filled candies from England; imported Toblers Swiss chocolates, gift candies, with gift wrapping and fancy and standard boxes for all occasions.

The Haas low calorie candies have been popular since 1882, the Wrights reported.
